AT THE WHITE HOUSE
The Callers on Mr. Cleveland Are Still Numerous.

SENATOR HILL'S VISIT.
Speculation as to What Passed Between the Two Men—A Protesting Indiana Delegation—Several Aspirants for Office Get the President's Ear.

Senator David Bennett Hill of New York visited the White House this morning. He came early, before the tide of visiting statesmen and politicians set in.

Senator Hill passed quickly into Private Secretary Thurston's room and was immediately escorted into the President's room. At the same time word was sent out to the door through which Senators and members of the House are ushered into the presidential presence that the President was specially engaged and that no one was to be received for the present.

Senator Hill remained about twenty minutes, and then he departed he left behind him a pungent aroma of interest and speculation among those who were aware of his presence.

A STENOGRAPHIC REPORT.

The newspaper men on the scene immediately went into executive session among themselves and discussed the incident. The result of their discussion was an agreement to offer the following:

"$500 Reward.—This sum will be paid for a stenographic report of the conversation between Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Hill.

"Also, $100 reward for an instantaneous photograph of their meeting.

"Also, $100 reward for a thermometer reading (Fahrenheit) of the temperature of the chamber at the time."

Up to the hour of going to press no one has claimed the rewards.
